Dear AP English Language and Composition Student,

Based off your academic performance this school year in English 10, quarterly report cards, teacher evaluations, and your AP Diagnostic Assessment, you have been recommended by the Administration to participate in the Advanced Placement English Language and Composition course.

Welcome to AP! As student scheduling nears completion, let us formally welcome you to Advanced Placement English Language and Composition. This is a rigorous and rewarding course, designed to foster sophisticated reading, writing, and thinking habits. Ultimately, you will be prepared to take the Advanced Placement Examination in English Language and Composition in May of 2017. During the course of your summer, your instructor would highly recommend you visit the College Board website for more information on the AP tests and programs (www.collegeboard.com/ap/students/index.html).

This course “engages students in becoming skilled readers of prose written in a variety of periods, disciplines, and rhetorical contexts and in becoming skilled writers who compose for a variety of purposes” (AP Course Description). The focus of this course will involve an in-depth analysis and understanding of rhetorical strategies in works of non-fiction and the intimate connection between writing, reading, speaking, and thinking.

We eagerly anticipate an enjoyable and successful year with you. Until then, have a wonderful summer!

Sincerely,

Mrs. Sha'Ronda McRae and Mr. Christopher Jones

Your Principal ☺
